

Virale verhalen

Marion Koopmans DVM PhD – Erasmus Universiteit Rotterdam

Over de spreker

Prof. Marion Koopmans is a professor of Public Health Virology in the Department of Viroscience at Erasmus Medical Centre in The Netherlands, director of the WHO collaborating centre for Emerging Infectious Diseases, scientific director for Emerging Infectious Diseases of the Netherlands Centre for One Health NCOH and scientific director of the Pandemic and Disaster Preparedness Centre in Rotterdam/Delft The Netherlands.

Her research focuses on emerging infections with special emphasis on unravelling pathways of disease emergence and spread at the human animal interface. Creating global networks to fight infectious diseases systematically and on a large scale is a common thread in Koopmans' work.

Koopmans has co-authored more than 800 articles that have been cited more than 50,000 times.

Samenvatting

verhalen over virussen en verhalen die viraal gaan